The Party

Joe and Susie, who are both 16, are going to a party at a friend's home. The parents are supervising the party since alcohol will be served. They agree to allow all of the friends to spend the night or to drive them home after the party.

Joe and Susie arrive and have a beer right away. They know the parents have allowed it in the past. An hour later, Joe decides he needs to run to the store for some cigarettes and wine coolers. He has had a few beers but insists that he is OK to drive. Susie rides along with him and holds his beer while he drives.

Joe goes into the store, uses his brother's ID and buys two packs of cigarettes and a pack of wine coolers. He gets back in the car and drives to the party.

Later that evening, a few of the teens begin smoking marijuana and ask Joe and Susie if they "wanna get high" They say no, but Susie takes some and puts it in her purse along with some rolling papers for another day.

Susie's curfew is 11 p.m., so Joe takes her home and says he'll call her tomorrow.
